

PERFILE

Agile, fast and effective professional with a relentless focus on results. I prioritize the delivery of high-quality projects and do not focus on timelines, but rather on the objectives to be achieved. I am easy to learn new skills and have experience in web development with HTML and CSS, as well as the basics of Python, javascript and databases (Firebase and sqlite), and am currently focused on mobile development using the Flutter framework and artificial intelligence.

Programming:

I've been studying programming for over 4 years, but I've never applied for a job, because all the jobs I've qualified for require me to be there, and since I'm graduating I can't go.

I'm currently focused on mobile development using the Flutter framework, using Firebase and also studying and implementing AI in my basic projects.

I'm starting to implement databases and create desktop applications.
